Cliffs and Challenges: A Young Woman Explores Yosemite, 1915–1917

Brunner, Laura White

University Press of Kansas .

paperback

Pub Date: 6/14/2019

Edited and with an introduction by Jared Champion. 21 photographs, all taken by Laura White Brunner.

Laura White Brunner's memoir, recovered from the Yosemite archives and published here for the first time, recounts two summers spent working and hiking in Yosemite Valley during a time of great change-in the park and in the world beyond.

Late in life, Laura White Brunner (1899–1973) told a reporter that she had always wanted to be a national park ranger but, sadly, was “born too soon.” Nonetheless she made Yosemite her own—in her hiking, photographs, and memoir, but also in a practical sense, when her ascent of Half Dome by the “Clothes-Line Rope” inspired the park administration, who feared more women might summit the monolith, to install the iconic “Cables on Half Dome” route that remains in place today.

Leader of the first tourist expedition into Yosemite in 1855, James Mason Hutchings became a tireless promoter of the valley--and of himself. Seeking to create an alternative to California's Gold Rush social chaos, Hutchings whetted the public enthusiasm for this unspoiled land by mass producing a lithograph of Yosemite Falls, while his Hutchings' California Magazine beat the drum for tourism.

Jen A. Huntley is an environmental historian of the Sierra Nevada and Pacific Rim. She taught humanities and history courses for ten years at the University of Nevada, Reno, designed the interdisciplinary University of Nevada Academy for the Environment, and was UNAE Associate Director for Education and Outreach until 2010.

From the foreword: 'Few Americans have so effectively as Uelsmann rendered in art the union of human beings with nature. '--David Robertson, University of California, Davis From the introduction: 'Some artists view the world as if looking through a window at things happening 'out there,' while others view the world as if looking in a mirror at a world inside themselves. Uelsmann bridges that gulf, taking in optical reality and offering back a landscape of the mind.

Jerry Uelsmann is an internationally-recognized artist and the author of multiple books. He lives in Gainesville, Florida, with his wife, the artist Maggie Taylor.
